

TRANSFER FROM AN RRSP OR A RRIF TO ANOTHER RRSP OR RRIF ON BREAKDOWN OF MARRIAGE OR COMMON-LAW PARTNERSHIP

- A transfer of property that is not made under a decree, order, or judgment of a competent tribunal, or a written separation agreement can cause both the annuitant, and the annuitant's current or former spouse or common-law partner to have a large amount of tax owing. The transfer has to be made directly, from the annuitant's unmatured registered retirement savings plan (RRSP) or registered retirement income fund (RRIF), to the RRSP or RRIF of the annuitant's current or former spouse or common-law partner from whom the annuitant is living separate and apart.
- Attach a copy of the decree, order, judgment, or written separation agreement only if unable to obtain the spouse's or common-law partner's signature.
- Tick the boxes that apply to you, and see the back of this form for definitions and more instructions.

Legislative references on this form are from the Income Tax Act.

Instructions

Who should use this form?

If you are the issuer of an unmatured registered retirement savings plan (RRSP) or the carrier of a registered retirement income fund (RRIF), you should use this form to directly transfer all or part of the property of an annuitant's RRSP or RRIF, to the RRSP or RRIF of the annuitant's current or former spouse or common-law partner, under a decree, order, or judgment of a competent tribunal, or a written separation agreement, relating to a division of property in settlement of rights arising out of, or on the breakdown of, the annuitant's marriage or common-law partnership.

Who completes this form?

Section I – The annuitant who requests the transfer completes and signs Section I. A transferor who completes Section I for the annuitant can attach a signed letter from the annuitant requesting the direct transfer, in place of a signature. If the transferor does not have complete information about the current or former spouse's or common-law partner's RRSP or RRIF, the transferee can complete Part C of Section I.

Section II – The transferee completes and signs Section II and it is countersigned by the current or former spouse or common-law partner. The transferee can attach a signed letter from the current or former spouse or common-law partner acknowledging the certification, in place of a countersignature.

Section III – The transferor completes and signs Section III.

Section IV – The transferee completes and signs Section IV.

Note

The annuitant does not have to reveal the contents of the court order or separation agreement to the issuer or carrier. However, the annuitant has to make it available (in a sealed envelope if desired) to the transferor.

Are there reporting requirements?

A direct transfer as described above does not cause the amount transferred to become income for the year in which the amount is transferred. However, the transferor will report the amount on a T4RSP or T4RIF slip issued to the annuitant identified in Part A of Section I. The transferee should not issue an official receipt, since the amount transferred cannot be deducted.
