Investment Philosophy

We believe that investing in the growth leaders of each market cycle offers investors the best opportunity to outperform over time. For this reason, we seek companies that reflect innovation and quality, while exhibiting a clearly defined strategy for achieving above average growth and the proven ability to implement and drive the strategy forward. Our approach leads to a concentrated, high conviction portfolio.

Investment Process Overview

Investment Process

We employ a bottom-up stock selection process based on in-depth fundamental research. Our process begins with a global investment universe of over 5,000 securities.

Idea generation may involve, but is not limited to, a quantitative screen. A good investment idea for the portfolio can also originate from management meetings (e.g. asking management teams who are their suppliers or competitors), attending industry conferences, or from sell-side generated research. A good idea, however, must screen well on our proprietary quantitative framework which prioritizes revenue growth, but also examines other growth metrics such as earnings growth, positive revisions, and rising cash flow. Growth measures are viewed from both an absolute and relative basis, as well as a historical perspective in conjunction with an examination of sustainability into the foreseeable future.

Proprietary research models and external databases are utilized to determine these characteristics for each company. The qualitative analysis continues to narrow the investable universe to 200+ companies through on-going, targeted research. This analysis identifies strong companies with leading product or service innovations, strong management and industry leaders in attractive markets. Company valuations are constantly monitored on both an absolute and relative basis compared to a peer group and the market, and valuation is also considered on a relative basis considering the long-term growth expectations. The rigorous bottom-up research process ensures each candidate for inclusion exhibits strong fundamentals.

The catalyst identification process further reduces the universe to 100+ companies, singling out potential purchase candidates. Factors scrutinized at this stage include market share trends, research and development (R&D), free cash flow generation and profitability. These factors are included in evaluating a company's ability to grow at above average rates. Innovation and the allocation of spending to R&D are closely monitored, as is the productivity of this spending. Our resulting high-conviction portfolio consists of 25-40 companies that exhibit strong growth characteristics.

Disclaimer

All information is in U.S. dollars. Strategy performance is based on the GIPS AGF Global Select Equity ADR Composite. The performance presented is gross and net of fees; rates of return for greater than one year have been annualized. AGF Investments uses Canadian dollar gross of fees returns and converts them on a monthly basis using spot rates sourced from Bloomberg. Net-of-fees returns are calculated by deducting the maximum institutional fee charged from the gross-of-fee return. Actual fees may vary depending upon the fee schedule and portfolio size. Past performance is not indicative of future results. The AGF Global Select Equity ADR Strategy portfolio characteristics in this presentation are based on a single (non-fee paying) representative account for the strategy within the composite.

The gross performance presented by AGFA is before deducting investment advisory fees but is net of transaction costs. Client returns will be reduced by advisory fees and other expenses. The client is referred to Part II of AGFA's Form ADV for a full disclosure of the fee schedule. As fees are deducted quarterly, the compounding effect will be to increase the impact of the fee by an amount directly related to the gross account performance. For example, on an account with a 0.5% fee, and gross performance of 20% over one year, the compounding effect of the fee will result in performance of approximately 19.4%. A $10,000 initial investment would grow to approximately $14,256 gross of fees, versus $14,000 net of fees, over a two year period.

The value of investments and the income from them can fall as well as rise. Investments denominated in foreign currencies are subject to fluctuations in exchange rates, which may have an adverse effect on the value of the investments, sale proceeds, and on dividend or interest income. Investors may not necessarily recoup the full value of their original investment. Investors should be aware that forward looking statements and forecasts may not be realized.

Effective October 31, 2016, the calculation methodology for holdings-based portfolio characteristics with the exception of weighted average market cap and active share has changed to a weighted ranking methodology, considered by AGF Investments as a better reflection of the relevant attributes. The new methodology, applied prospectively, applies a ranking to each security, uses the percentage market value weight of the security in the portfolio/benchmark and determines a median of extracted securities to arrive at the portfolio/benchmark characteristic (by summing the weight of securities which have a rank to calculate a rank for the portfolio/benchmark and extracting securities with the same portfolio rank).

Composite Description

The Global Select ADR Composite (USD) includes all portfolios invested in common shares of small, medium and large cap companies around the world that are traded on U.S. exchanges. The concentrated portfolios are managed in a growth style.

Composite Creation Date and Inception Date

The composite was created on July 1, 2013. The composite's inception was in August 2011.

Currency

Valuations and returns are computed and stated in U.S. Dollars.

Minimum Portfolio Size

There is no minimum portfolio size required for inclusion into the composite.

Calculation Methodology

Results reflect the reinvestment of dividends, income and other earnings.

Gross-of-fees returns are presented before management expenses and custodial fees, but after all trading expenses and withholding taxes.

Net of fees returns are calculated by deducting the maximum institutional fee charged from the gross of fee return.

Composite returns are calculated using asset-weighted returns by weighing the individual account returns using beginning-of-period values.

Internal Dispersion Measure

Internal dispersion is calculated using the asset-weighted standard deviation of all accounts included in the composite for the entire year; it is not presented for periods less than one year or when there were five or fewer portfolios in the composite for the entire year as this is not considered meaningful.

Three-Year Annualized Ex-Post Standard Deviation

The three-year annualized standard deviation measures the variability of the composite and the benchmark returns over the preceding 36-month period. The standard deviation is presented once the composite has three full calendar years of performance. Gross returns are used to calculate risk measures.

Fee Schedule

The maximum management fee for the strategy is 0.70% per annum.
