

Interim Management Report of Fund Performance

AGF Short-Term Income Class

March 31, 2024

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

This management discussion of fund performance represents the portfolio management team's view of the significant factors and developments affecting the fund's performance and outlook.

Results of Operations

For the six months ended March 31, 2024, the Mutual Fund Shares of AGF Short-Term Income Class (the "Fund") returned 4.4% (net of expenses) while the Bloomberg Canada Aggregate 1-5 Year Index returned 4.3%. The performance of the other series of the Fund is substantially similar to that of the Mutual Fund Shares, save for differences in expense structure. Refer to "Past Performance" section for performance information of such series.

The Fund out-performed the Bloomberg Canada Aggregate 1-5 Year Index as the Fund maintained an overweight allocation to corporate credit versus the benchmark, which contributed to relative performance. Corporate credit spreads tightened over the reporting period, contributing to the out-performance of the Fund.

The Fund entered into foreign exchange forward contracts during the period under review. As of March 31, 2024, the Fund was long Canadian dollar and short U.S. dollar in order to hedge its currency exposure.

The Fund had net redemptions of approximately $72,000 for the current period, as compared to net redemptions of approximately $4 million in the prior period. The portfolio manager does not believe that redemption activity had a meaningful impact on the Fund's performance or the ability to implement its investment strategy.

Total expenses before foreign withholding taxes, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs vary period over period mainly as a result of changes in average Net Asset Values (see Explanatory Note (1) a)) and investor activity, such as number of investor accounts and transactions. Expenses have decreased as compared to the previous period due mainly to a decrease in average Net Asset Values. The increase in custodian fees and decrease in registration fees were due to variances between the accrued amounts versus the actual expenses incurred in the previous period. All other expenses remained fairly consistent throughout the periods.

Recent Developments

During the reporting period, the global economy once again exhibited its resilience as capital markets yielded positive returns. These results were influenced by variable economic indicators, geopolitical tensions and the monetary policies enacted by central banks. Inflation rates broadly moderated year-over-year in both the developed and emerging markets, although recent months have raised the prospect of inflation becoming sticky around its current level. This prompted central banks in the developed markets to delay proposed rate cuts until later in 2024, as they gather more data to support the decision.

During the final calendar quarter of 2023, Canada's economy recovered from the contraction experienced in the previous quarter and recorded an expansion of 0.2%. The Bank of Canada ("BoC") maintained a 5.0% interest rate for the fifth consecutive meeting in March 2024 and remains committed to continuing its quantitative tightening policy until it sees a sustained decline in core inflation. Consumer price inflation in Canada fell to 2.8% in February 2024, slightly lower than the previous month's 2.9% and the lowest level since June 2023. During its most recent meeting, the central bank's officials reiterated that the bank could not rule out the need to raise rates should inflation unexpectedly rise. The unemployment rate remained elevated throughout the reporting period, which was further proof of the lagged effects of elevated interest rates. Even though most of 2023 had been difficult for the Canadian economy, the business activity in the country expanded for the entire reporting period. As a result, Canadian equities posted healthy growth figures throughout the period.

The portfolio manager believes global growth through 2024 should continue to be negatively affected by the lagged effects of monetary tightening. The possibility of the U.S. Federal Reserve maintaining its current stance on rate cuts could have a positive impact on various markets, especially in countries where central banks implemented tightening measures early on.

The Canadian economy's lack of substantial growth for much of 2023, and recent progress made on inflation, could place the BoC in a more favorable position to gradually lower policy rates in 2024. Furthermore, many higher cost mortgage renewals will become due in the coming year, straining an already burdened consumer. The Canadian yield curve remains inverted however, offering a weaker risk-return profile for adding duration versus other developed nations with expectations of rate cuts later in the year. Duration is a measure of the sensitivity of the portfolio to changes in interest rates. Volatility may persist due to fluctuations in the growth-versus-inflation narrative, as it will likely be driven by energy and commodity prices in the months ahead.

Explanatory Notes

(1) a) This information is derived from the Fund's audited annual financial statements and unaudited interim financial statements. Under International Financial Reporting Standards ("IFRS"), investments that are traded in an active market are generally valued at closing price, which is determined to be within the bid-ask spread and most representative of fair value. As a result, there is no difference between the net assets per share presented in the financial statements ("Net Assets") and the net asset value per share calculated for fund pricing purposes ("Net Asset Value").

b) The following series of the Fund commenced operations on the following dates, which represents the date upon which securities of a series were first made available for purchase by investors.

Mutual Fund Shares	October 1994
Series F Shares	January 2000

(2) Net Assets, dividends and distributions are based on the actual number of shares outstanding at the relevant time. The increase/decrease from operations is based on the weighted average number of shares outstanding over the financial period.

(3) Dividends and distributions were paid in cash/reinvested in additional shares of the Fund, or both.

(4) This is not a reconciliation of the beginning and ending Net Assets per share.

(5) The management expense ratio ("MER") of a particular series is calculated in accordance with National Instrument 81-106, based on all the expenses of the Fund (including Harmonized Sales Tax, Goods and Services Tax and interest, but excluding income tax, foreign withholding taxes, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) and the Fund's proportionate share of the MER, if applicable, of the underlying funds and exchange traded funds ("ETFs") in which the Fund has invested, attributable to that series, expressed as an annualized percentage of average daily Net Asset Value of that series during the period. For new series launched during the period, the MER is annualized from the date of the first external purchase.

(6) AGFI waived certain fees or absorbed certain expenses otherwise payable by the Fund. The amount of expenses waived or absorbed is determined annually on a series by series basis at the discretion of AGFI and AGFI can terminate the waiver or absorption at any time.

(7) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, including the Fund's proportionate share of the commissions, if applicable, of the underlying funds and ETFs in which the Fund has invested, expressed as an annualized percentage of average daily Net Asset Value during the period.

(8) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate ("PTR") indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A PTR of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a fund's PTR in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

PTR is calculated based on the lesser of the cumulative cost of purchases or cumulative proceeds of sales divided by the average market value of the portfolio, excluding short-term investments.

Management Fees

The Fund is managed by AGFI. As a result of providing investment and management services, AGFI receives a monthly management fee, based on the Net Asset Value of the respective series, calculated daily and payable monthly. Management fees in respect of Series I, Series O, Series Q and Series W Shares, if applicable, are arranged directly between the Manager and investors and are not expenses of the Fund. AGFI uses these management fees to pay for sales and trailing commissions to registered dealers on the distribution of the Fund's shares, investment advice, as well as for general administrative expenses such as overhead, salaries, rent, legal and accounting fees relating to AGFI's role as manager.

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional securities of the Fund. Note that the performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution or other optional charges that would have reduced returns or performance. How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

It is AGFI's policy to report rates of return for series in existence greater than one year. The performance start date for each series represents the date of the first purchase of such series, excluding seed money.

All rates of return are calculated based on the Net Asset Value.

Year-By-Year Returns
